History of Oregon

From the Earliest Period to the Present Time

BY HUBERT HOWE BANCROFT.

Just published, complete in two vols., with index. A magnificent contribution to knowledge. The pride of a people who are proud of their record. A household necessity for a national people.

Agents Wanted Everywhere. No book ever published so complete in its scope and importance to the people of Oregon, and to all others interested in the welfare of their country. It contains a record of brave doings, of grand emigrations and permanent organizations. It is the life of an important part of the nation. No true Oregonian, no true American will fail to secure this work, now for the first time offered separately from the full set of Mr. Bancroft's marvellous historical series in 20 vols.

Earliest, active workers should secure exclusive territory immediately, or they will lose a rare opportunity to make for themselves $500 or $1,000.

One needs no experience or capital in this business, for if properly presented the work sells itself, and we give our Agents 30 days' time in which to deliver and collect before paying us. Address

A SCRAP OF PAPER SAVED HER LIFE.

It was just an ordinary scrap of writing paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Fort Smith. Trial bottle of this wonderful discovery free at Dan'l J. Fry's drug store.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

One Killed and Five Rendered Insensible.

THE OREGON PACIFIC RAILROAD.

A Large Quantity of Hardwood Lumber Burned.

The Wrecked Bark Safe.

ASTORIA, Or., July 25.—As surmised, the vessel sighted off Eastern brook's last evening was the British bark Janet Ferguson, from Victoria in ballast. The vessel arrived in all right this morning, in tow of the Escort.

Captain McGibbon says he left Victoria last Saturday for the Columbia river. When he got down to the straits, the weather shut in very thick, and it was so foggy that he could not make out his position. At seven yesterday morning he found the current was carrying the vessel toward shore, and came to anchor, not knowing what part of the coast he was on. During the day he tried to land in a small boat, but though the sea was smooth where the vessel lay, there was too much surf.

At 12:30 this morning the tug came alongside, and the vessel arrived at eight this morning.

The vessel was not on her beam ends, and was not in trouble at any time.

Tramps Driven Out.

ARLINGTON, Or., July 25.—About fifteen or twenty tramps struck town this morning and commenced a systematic course of working the people for food, old clothes and money. The citizens put up with their presence until this evening, when a number of young men, headed by Marshal Ardery waited on them and asked them to leave. Seven or eight started west without any words, and the others scattered along the river claiming they were eastbound. Two of these fellows acknowledged to having been here five years ago, when the town was burned, but they finally left. It is supposed that this is the same gang that was driven out of Spokane Falls some days ago.

A farmer named H. G. Hurlburt, living near town, was arrested and brought into town to-day for making an assault on a 10-year-old boy named Helms with a pitchfork. He waived examination and was held in bail in the sum of $750.

Struck by Lightning.

BUTTE, July 25.—John Moriarity, a section foreman on the Montana Central railroad, while at work on his section about five miles from Elk Park station, was struck by lightning about noon to-day and instantly killed. He had a spike maul in his hand and was standing about ten feet from his men when the stroke descended. All of his men, five in number, were severely shocked, one or two being thrown violently to the ground and rendered insensible, but they soon recovered. Moriarity was struck near the heart. The electrical current followed down his left leg and tore his shoes and stockings into shreds. His watch chain was burned in two and the case of his watch was melted.

The Oregon Pacific.

ALBANY, Or., July 25.—Antonele & Doe, contractors on the Oregon Pacific railroad, state that there is no truth in the report that work had been stopped on the eastward extension of the road. A gang of Chinamen engaged in surfacing up the end of the track have quit, that work being finished, but Antonele & Doe have 150 white men at work on their thirty-mile contract, and they will put on a force of Chinamen next week, white laborers being scarce. Work on their contract will be vigorously pushed until completed.

A Packery Burned.

COLFAX, W. T., July 25.—The handsome brick packing house of the Colfax Packing Company was almost entirely destroyed by fire at nine o'clock last night. In the building were 7000 pounds of bacon and several tons of lard, most of which is damaged. The brick walls remain intact. It is not known how the fire started, but was either incendiary or caught from sparks from the foundry, near by. The loss is $14,000; insurance, $6000. The fire department did excellent work, and saved much of the meat. It will be rebuilt.

To Secure Right of Way.

BUTTE, July 25.—In order to obtain right of way into the city, the Northern Pacific and Montana railroad company will have to fight for almost every inch of the ground. As soon as it became known definitely, where the course of the proposed road was to be, a number of persons located claims directly on the line of the route, and the company has made repeated efforts to effect a settlement with these parties and has failed invariably. Having become tired of these futile attempts at an amicable adjustment, the company has begun condemnation proceedings in the district court.

The Pension Bureau.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The committee appointed by Secretary Noble to investigate and report upon the manner of the rating of pensions in the pension bureau during the last year is busily engaged on the case. A statement is being prepared at the pension office of the number of cases made special during the four months of Tanner's administration. It is stated that these number no less than 1000.

Water For McMinnville.

McMINNVILLE, July 25.—The city council has finally decided to take Yamhill river water for city water works, and have advertised for bids for a system of pumping complete, to cost not more than $20,000, the amount allowed by the last legislature. The work is to begin by August the 20, and be pushed to completion.

A Sawmill Burned.

JEFFERSON Or., July 25.—The hardwood sawmill of J. C. Rounds, located near the Santiam, in a big body of ash and maple, burned very early this morning, with a large quantity of hardwood lumber. It was a well arranged mill, and the only one of the kind on the Willamette. It is reported that there is no insurance.

A Case of Smallpox at Seattle.

SEATTLE, July 25.—Charles Staugarden, a Norwegian recently from Minnesota, applied for admission to Providence hospital this afternoon. His face was covered with smallpox pustules and he was sent to the pest house. He contracted the disease before coming west.

A Wonderful Sight.

On the evening of the 11 of July Tacoma saw a sight which probably the oldest inhabitant never witnessed before, and it was one of the most beautiful that human eye ever beheld. The snowy top of Mount Tacoma stood like a great mass of snowy white cloud above the belt of smoke that lay along its base; the last lingering rays of the setting sun gilded the summit as if with molten gold, and many bright and prismatic colors gleamed about the mountain sides. At the moment when the sun was sinking toward the surface of the Pacific, the upper edge of the full round moon peeped above old Tacoma's top and in a few moments the big silver disc stood as if it rested with its lower edge upon the bank of the sun-lit snow that crowned this monarch of the Cascades.

Exclamations of delight were heard on all hands from all; old and tired men climbing the terraces after their days work turned to see the glorious sight; children quit their play to gaze at the scene with delight, and all manner of people, even those who heed nature the least, halted to watch the last of beauty, the moon and the mountain in their perihelion—so to speak—this grand touch of nature in her grandest mood. The exquisite scene lasted in the height of its sublimity but a few moments and the monarch of the night and the monarch of the mountains stood apart, the moon riding higher and higher in the clear sky, growing brighter and brighter as she ascended, leaving the mountains almost obscured in the semi-darkness and ghostly shadows that veiled the horizon.

The scene will live for ever in the memories of all who saw it. Poets will sing of it; painters will endeavor to transfer it to canvass; many will attempt to describe it by the word of mouth, but only through the camera of remembrance can it be perfectly seen again, and then only through the remembrance of those who admire the majesty of nature and who loves the beautiful therein.

Brooklyn waiters struck because of a notice that warned customers against overcharges. Their places were filled.
